America is now experiencing a major humanitarian crisis of a nature and scale that would surprise and upset its citizens if this dire situation were fully understood. The on-going wars in Afghanistan and Iraq continue to take a tremendous personal toll on members of the U.S. armed services and their care-giving families. Because of advances in medical technology, the lives of many soldiers have been saved during these wars. That is the good news. Unfortunately, the active military personnel and veterans who have experienced serious physical injuries and mental health problems need care and support during their recovery, rehabilitation and return to civilian life that far outstrips the current capacity of existing public and private sector military support organizations. And too often financial problems undermine a family's efforts to stabilize its situation, rebuild it self and create a better life.

Improving the current well-being and future prospects of these families is the central mission of Rebuild Hope. It operates the only nationwide online financial support network that makes it easy for Americans to make self-directed donations to current and former servicemen and women who have suffered life-altering injuries since September 11, 2001 and their care-giving families. Donations are used to provide transitional financial assistance.

Rebuild Hope invites you to explore our website (www.rebuildhope.org), become a donor member of our community and help us "spread-the-word" about Rebuild Hope to your friends, family and associates. We are also seeking volunteers passionate about our mission and committed to our success.

Donations can be made online at www.rebuildhope.org and by personal check. Checks should be made out to Rebuild Hope and mailed to 365 Ambar Way, Menlo Park, CA 94025.

If you have wondered how you could personally improve the lives of our military families, there is now an easy way – through Rebuild Hope.
